Sport, religious and community groups have been included in the new "Working Together to Safeguard Children" statutory guidance that was published in July 2018. It is important for any club / group to have a clear understanding of what their statutory safeguarding responsibilities are and how they can protect children who attend their clubs.

This event will give you an insight into how abuse can occur through sport and other extra-curricular activities that so many of our children attend.

Key messages will be given about how to ensure our children are safe during these activities as well as giving professionals and parents the right information in order to ask the pertinent questions before children attend and also the confidence to challenge and report any concerns that they may have.
